Nels Cline is the new guitarist for the popular band Wilco. After several years of touring the US and Europe honing their sound, The Nels Cline Singers present their second recording entitled, "The Giant Pin." While the core group consists of electric guitar, acoustic bass and drums, no singers, there are some notable guest artists on this recording; including keyboardist Jon Brion and vocalist Greg Saunier of Deerhoof. This is a mature work from the leader that Jazz Times has called, "The world's most dangerous guitarist."

"Very quietly – or not so quietly, Nels Cline has become the crown prince of avant-garde guitar."

Darrin Fox, Guitar Player Magazine

"Every track on this CD is a winner, and with a recording as fine as this one, Cline is identifying himself as a major force in the world of electric guitar."

Bill Tilland, BBCi - review of CG113 - Instrumentals
